

NEW TEACHER WAREHOUSE!

Edmonds Education Association (EEA) understands that new teachers walk into empty classrooms tasked with the job of creating inviting, engaging learning environments.

Understandably, new teachers are excited yet, at the same time, likely a bit overwhelmed with the idea of setting up their new classroom; after all, the learning environment is a critical part of a student's educational experience and that experience is dependent upon the books provided in the classroom library, availability of dry erase markers for the whiteboard and folders for collecting student work, as well as the materials a teacher has at his/her disposal for creating interesting and creative bulletin boards.

EEA is pleased to offer you the opportunity to gather supplies for your classroom at the New Teacher Warehouse on:

Saturday, August 27th, 9am-1pm
Edmonds United Methodist Church
828 Caspers Street, Edmonds, WA 98020

EEA members in their first 3 years of teaching are invited to come shop FOR FREE to collect books for classroom libraries, classroom supplies, manipulatives, storage containers, copy paper, binders, games, resource books and materials, and so much more!

Bring 2 boxes of your own to fill as you shop. Feel free to email Andi at anofziger@washingtonea.org with any questions.
